Quarter Million More Telephones In Use On Coast Than At End Of War

An increase since V-J day of a quarter of a million telephones served by Bell Companies on the Pacific Coast was announced by N. E. Powley, president of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company and its subsidiary the Southern California Telephone Company. Mr. Powley's statement follows: "Directing our efforts as we have to render service as rapidly as possible to all who want it and to make our service even better than it has ever been before, the 2,886,000 telephones in service as of May 31, 1946, include an increase of 254,000 since V-J day, of which 123,000 were added in the first five months of this year—an unequalled increase in any similar time period in the history of our company. "The telephone increase since V-J day exceeds by 67,000, or 26 percent, the 187,000 increase in the year 1943—the largest yearly telephone increase ever recorded by our company. The telephone increase for the first five months of 1946 exceeds by 69,000, or 60 percent, the 114,000 increase for the entire year 1945. "New applications for service—totaling 240,000 for the first five months of this year—increased 107 percent over the corresponding period of a year ago. Of the 286,000 prospective subscribers at the first of the year whose applications had been necessarily deferred due to shortage of facilities, we are glad to report that 183,000, or 64 percent, have been served. Due, however, to the necessarily involved in the installation of complicated switchboards—in many instances new buildings are required to house them—together with the large number of new applications and the continued materials shortages and disturbed conditions throughout the country affecting manufacturers' production, 229,000 applicants are still waiting for service. "We are diligently concentrating, notwithstanding the difficulties in obtaining adequate apparatus and materials, on providing service to waiting applicants as fast as it is humanly possible to do so. Likewise every effort is being made to improve the quality and efficiency of our service. "Construction of additional toll and long distance circuits has gone forward with rapidity and continued improvement is being made in the service even though the volume continues at record high levels—the calls being 20 percent greater than in the corresponding five-month period of a year ago. "Our company has recently made substantial further post-war increased wage adjustments, aggregating $8,000,000 on an annual basis, as a result of collective bargaining negotiations with the unions. Certification For Priority Asked In Surplus Sale

World War II veterans planning to attend the 124-million-dollar first-cess, first-served war surplus sale opening Monday, July 15, at Port Hueneme, were warned today that they must be certified for priority before going to the sale. Priority certificates may be obtained at WAA Public Interest and Veterans Priority Offices in Los Angeles, San Diego, Phoenix or San Francisco, according to announcement by John Taggart, WAA deputy regional director. Such "hot" reconversion items as generators, circular saws, pumps, quonset huts, tents, tarpaulins, complete Navy laundry units, fabricated steel plate and steel tanks are included in the surplus stocks to be put on sale beginning Monday for veterans and federal agencies. Federal agencies may buy only on Monday and Tuesday. Veterans will have until July 19 to purchase. Sales hours will be 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Mondays through Fridays.

Walteria Bride Honored With Shower Friday

A post-nuptial shower honoring Mrs. Johnnie Gally, the former Betty Young, of Walteria, was given Friday by her sister, Mrs. Evar Johnson at her home, 24459 Ward st., Walteria, assisted by Mrs. J. E. Yaverka. Miniature brides centered the tables and nut cups in the form of silver snippers holding pink and white flowers completed the setting. A pink and white cake was served with other refreshments at a late hour. Miss Joan Smith, Mrs. David Hagam, Mrs. Gally, Mrs. Henry Gramms and Miss Florence Conze were prize winners in bunco. Mrs. Gally was the recipient of many lovely gifts for her home from the guest group, including Mmes. J. E. Gemoets, mother of the bride; M. J. Davidson, her grandmother; A. L. Young, C. S. Swanson, Lloyd Hughes, Wally Lingren, Loren Maddux, Ernest Ashton, Henry Conze, Abe Flint, Gene Andrews, Charles Fulton, Lloyd Thorpe, Chris Barth, David Hagam and Henry Gramms; and the Misses Smith, Florence Conze, Marjory Swanson and Louise Hamilton. Married June 22 in San Diego, where the couple are making their home, Gally, AMM first class, USN, is now stationed at North Island in the operations department, while the bride, a Narbonne high school graduate of W41, recently was discharged from the WAVES after 18 months' service.

Red Feather Is Community Chest Campaign Emblem

Within the next few months Red Feather displays will be adopted by the colorful metropolitan district, the essential of the Community Chest as its permanent campaign emblem, first to be displayed during the Fall United appeal of '95 health and welfare agencies. Used during the Middle Ages by feudal knights as part of their traditional insignia, locally the red feather will be indicative of a good deed in helping supporting year round agencies for dependent children, families in distress, health and youth services, and, in general, the common good. The symbol has been selected by Community Chests of America as the emblem of more than 1000 chests of the nation, which support 8000 private agencies through federated financing. More than 500,000 volunteer workers each year serve in the single united fund-raising appeal of these health and welfare organizations. Last year they raised more than $115,000,000 throughout the country, according to P. G. Winnett, president of the Welfare Federation of Los Angeles Area. Official approval of the Red Feather was given at the June meeting of the board of the Welfare Federation, the 86 community Chest agencies having previously recommended its adoption.

Last Call For Summer Garden Planting Voiced

By Agricultural Extension Service. It's about time to say "Last call to plant summer gardens." Mid-July is about as late as it is reasonable to plant tomatoes, except in very warm locations on hillsides with a south exposure. In such location plants set to the first of August will give fruit way into the winter. A mid-July and even August first planting of Golden Cross sweet corn will mature late in October and November and should last until frost. Get in some string beans. Even dry beans, such as limas, will mature if planted by mid-July. It's too late for sweet potatoes, but not for winter squash. The squash from plants started in mid-July will be smaller in size, but otherwise as good as those planted earlier. Fall Gardens. It's a good time to start preparation for the fall garden to be planted in August and September. Compost started early in the spring should now be ready for use. If you don't have compost, get some dairy, chicken or rabbit manure. Apply one and one-half or two sacks of dairy manure to 100 square feet, or about one-third of a sack of chicken or rabbit manure. Apply the organic matter to previously wet soil. Spade it in and let it stand three weeks to a month before planting. What to Plant For. August is the time for planting the fall crop of Irish potatoes. Be sure to use certified seed or at least "war approved" seed. Better soak the seed for 90 minutes in a one to one thousand bichloride of mercury solution before cutting it. By late August you can make the first plantings of garden peas, cabbage, broccoli, cauliflower and Brussels sprouts. Head lettuce may be started in late August. Other garden vegetables, in fact almost the whole list, can be planted during August.
